

Long Island Water Conference Drinking Water Symposium

Friday, November 2, 2018 • 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m.

Heritage Club at Bethpage

99 Quaker Meeting House Road, Farmingdale, NY 11735

Dear Friends,

The Long Island Water Conference cordially invites you to join them as they bring together regional and local water quality experts, environmentalists, industry representatives and public officials for Long Island's Annual Drinking Water Symposium. This year's symposium will focus on the critical topics regarding Long Island's evolution of treating for contaminants and a deep dive into the systems being implemented to treat for emerging, unregulated contaminants. In addition, there will be a thorough discussion on wastewater and its impact on groundwater.

This year's program will feature a keynote address from Carrie Meek Gallagher, Region 1 Director, New York State Department of Environmental Conservation. In addition, our expert panels will include:

Evolution of Water Treatment: Meeting the Challenges Presented by Emerging Contaminants in Long Island's Groundwater

- Scott Meyerderks, Lead Civil Engineer, Suffolk County Water Authority
- James Neri, Vice President, H2M Architects + Engineers
- Tyrand Fuller (Moderator), Lead Hydrogeologist and Director of Strategic Initiatives, Suffolk County Water Authority

Wastewater and Its Impact on Groundwater: Treating Wastewater for Emerging Contaminants

- Peter Scully, Deputy County Executive for Administration, Suffolk County
- Karen Gomez, Regional Engineer (Water and Remediation), New York State Department of Environmental Conservation
- Irene Fisher, Hydrologist, United States Geological Survey
- Richard Passariello (Moderator), Superintendent, Roslyn Water District

To be a part of these important conversations, please RSVP to Greg Gordon at Zimmerman/Edelson, Inc. no later than Tuesday, October 30, 2018 at (516) 829-8374 or ggordon@zimmed.com.
